Initially, Shiki was immersed in traditional Japanese poetry, including waka and renga. However, inspired by Western poetic forms and the changing literary landscape, he sought to innovate within the Japanese poetic tradition. His engagement with Haiku, a form that had been historically popular, became a fertile ground for experimentation and reform.

Illness, Personal Struggles, and Artistic Transformation

A pivotal moment in Shiki's life was his battle with tuberculosis, which ultimately led to his death at age 34. His health struggles imbued his poetry with a sense of urgency and realism, emphasizing the importance of capturing life's fleeting moments. His personal hardships also fueled his desire to modernize and reform Japanese poetry, steering it away from ornate classical conventions towards a more direct, vivid, and accessible form.

The Evolution of Haiku and Shiki's Artistic Philosophy

Breaking from Classical Constraints

Masaoka Shiki is credited with transforming haiku from a predominantly seasonal and often idealized form into a more realistic and introspective genre. He emphasized the importance of "shasei" (sketching from life), advocating for poetry that reflects genuine observation and personal experience.

Key Principles of Shiki's Poetics

- Realism: Shiki believed that poetry should depict life as it is, avoiding overly romanticized or artificial depictions.
- Seasonality: While respecting tradition, he redefined the role of season words ("kigo") to enhance authenticity.
- Conciseness and Clarity: His poems are marked by brevity but depth, capturing profound insights in few words.
- Focus on the Present Moment: Emphasizing mindfulness and immediacy, his work sought to connect the reader with the present.

The Concept of "Shasei" (Sketching from Life)

This principle became a cornerstone of his poetic approach, encouraging poets to observe their environment keenly and depict it honestly. This led to a more vivid, accessible, and emotionally resonant body of work, setting the stage for modern haiku.

sensory perception and introspection.
